

Department of English Course Outcomes

Sl.No.	Semester	Course Code	Course Title		Course Outcomes(COs)
				CO1	Knowledge of the condition of ancient Indian Society – How and What does the transformation resulted in?
				CO2	Colonization – Intellectual Colonization – Its negative influence on Culture.
				CO3	Non-conventional thinking by means of using small words to understand the philosophy of life.
				CO4	Comparisons made in the poem to dissect rural Indian peasant society.
				CO5	Parent – Child fond age – narrational skill in the story.
				CO6	Pet dog’s foolish behavior – narration of an incident in Australian Life.
				CO7	Story line, characterization and dialogue in Drama.
				CO8	Improving vocabulary by learning, spelling, pronunciation, meanings and usage.
				CO9	The basic structure of a sentence.
			The Scientific Point of View	CO1	Having scientific point of view is advantageous for civilization. How?
				CO2	The advantages of Shaking hands compared to other forums of greeting, according to A.G. gardener.
				CO3	The fruits and flowers, the activity and the music of the British season of Autumn.
				CO4	The views expensed by Kishwar Naheed as a feminist poet.
				CO5	The way how summers spread in small towns in India.
				CO6	The Theme of greed in a merchant’s life.
				CO7	Characterization and comic aspects of the Way.
				CO8	Improved quality of expression by means of transformation and comprehension growth listening & Reading.
			Steepness, My Child	CO1	The advantages and the disadvantages of shysters are understood.
				CO2	The necessity of scientific temperament and technological advancement.
				CO3	The apartheid towards the Africans by the whites understood.
				CO4	The dignity of labour and stretching over from physical labour to mental labour is understood.
				CO5	The stunning personal experience of a car driver cum tour guide in human behavior in understand.
				CO6	The theme of feminism is understood by observing the characters of grandmother, mother and grand-daughter.
				CO7	The social skill of bridge – price deputies by dramatic mode of comedy is understood.
				CO8	Transformation of students and the writing skills of the student are enhanced.